

Siobhan shows her special Celtic talent

NOT many teens get to travel the country singing in music festivals but for local girl Siobhan Owen, 15, this is just one of her many exciting adventures.

Just last month Siobhan, below, who is a classically-trained singer, performed at the Fringe with French Celtic singer Cecile Corbel.

On a recent appearance on radio station ABC 891 with Peter Goers, he described her as "a special talent who only comes along once in a while".

Siobhan now is preparing to perform in Canberra at the National Folk Festival over the Easter weekend. Then she will be travelling to NSW and Victoria in the coming months where she will be a featured act at two different Celtic festivals.

-Sheradyn Holderhead

